MLOps Book Progress

As I started sharing my thoughts regularly on LinkedIn, friends around me often encouraged me to write on a weekly basis, saying that it could open a very different chapter in my life. To be honest, I hesitated at first. I was unsure and a bit afraid. But I decided to begin.

I wrote my articles on the Substack platform, and by the end of 2025, I had published 61 pieces there.

One day, when I received a message on LinkedIn from a representative of a well-known publishing house with a proposal to write a book, I paused again. I hesitated. But I wanted this story to become a part of my life and that is how this journey began.

I am grateful to all the friends who believed in me and encouraged me along the way.
